

Elizabeth McInnis Benito has a PhD in Human Development with a concentration in educational leadership, from Marywood University. She received a B.A. from Bucknell University and a Master's degree from Michigan State University. She was a Fulbright Scholar (Spain 1983-85). Currently, she is employed at the Milton Hershey School and is responsible for directing its Alliance Schools Program, an innovative PK-16 partnership involving 63 post-secondary schools in Pennsylvania and nearby states. Her daughter graduated from the Academy in 2000.

Joyce Davis graduated from Loyola University, New Orleans, and has an honorary doctorate from the University of Kyrgyzstan in recognition of her contributions to media development and democracy in Central Asia. She is multilingual, has published two books on Islam and the Middle East and before joining WITF was associate director of broadcasting for Radio Free Europe. Her son is a rising 10th grader at the Academy.

Benedict H. Dubbs, AIA, LEED AP is a registered architect. Mr. Dubbs graduated from Millersville University with a degree in Industrial Arts and Industrial Design. He received his Masters Degree in Architecture from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and has served as a college faculty member in architecture, and as a municipal building inspector. He joined Murray Associates in 1984, and is now a Principal in the firm, responsible for all programming, planning, architectural design and interior design. Mr. Dubbs and his firm have substantial experience working with independent schools.

Linda Goldstein is Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the Capital Region Economic Development Corporation (CREDC), which fosters the creation, expansion and attraction of business and industry in Cumberland, Dauphin and Perry County. Before joining CREDC, Linda was a business development officer with Commerce Bank. She also spent five years with Governor Tom Ridge in the Department of Community and Economic Development where she created the Entrepreneurial Assistance Office and later the Pennsylvania Investment Technology Authority. She spent 11 years in the financial services industry as a financial consultant. Linda is a co-founder of the Athena PowerLink program in Central Pennsylvania, an initiative that provides advisory panels to women-owned businesses. Linda served as a Trustee from 1992 to 1997. Her daughters graduated from the Academy in 1993 and 1996.

Joyce Levin is a graduate of Lankenau Hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia, with a B.S.N. from the University of Delaware and a M.S.N. from the University of Pennsylvania. She has many years of clinical and administrative experience in health care. She has worked as the Cardiovascular Health Consultant for the Pennsylvania Department of Health – South Central District in 2003, and is currently working for the South Central PA Cancer Education Network doing community education programs. Joyce served as a Trustee of the Academy from 2000 to 2003. Her son, Ted, graduated from the Academy in 2006 and her son, Michael, is an associate alum.

Gene Trindell is a services practice director for Unisys Corporation. He graduated from Mansfield University in 1984. Mr. Trindell has over twenty-seven years in the services and information technology industry with a broad range of increasingly responsible management positions, including line and staff management positions. He was a member of the Academic Excellence Committee in the Strategic Planning process that resulted in Challenge 2013. He and his wife Paula, have two children attending the Harrisburg Academy in second and fifth grades.

Joe Gillette is a member of the Academy's Class of 1982 and graduated from the University of PA in 1986. He currently resides in NJ with his wife Lisa and three sons. Joe is the Chairman and CEO of Stage 2 Networks, a telecommunications firm. Joe is a member of the inaugural class of inductees into the Academy's Athletic Hall of Fame. While Joe was a student at the Academy, he was an outstanding soccer, basketball and lacrosse player. Since he graduated from the Academy, Joe has continued to be an ongoing supporter of our school. Joe's brother, John, and his sister, Jane, are also graduates of the Academy. Joe's father, Ralph, served as the Academy's Head of School from 1978-1986. Together as a twosome, they make a formidable team at the Academy's Golf Classic.