Five Classroom Schedule Options Now Available for Harrisburg Academy Preschoolers

WORMLEYSBURG, PA – Harrisburg Academy is excited to announce new part-time options for families considering its ever-popular preschool program, HATS (Harrisburg Academy Threes). Specifically, parents enrolling their children in the Academy’s preschool program for the 2017-18 academic year can now choose to attend two, three or five mornings per week, in addition to the standard three- or five-days-per-week full-day schedule options.

As the foundation of the Academy’s Early Childhood program, HATS is designed to instill lifelong habits of creativity, curiosity, kindness, and wellness. The new schedule options will allow more students the opportunity to take advantage of a fun yet educational program that serves as a leader in this area. The Junior Kindergarten and Kindergarten programs remain five-days-per-week full-day programs to balance the need for play with the robust offerings at these levels, which include instruction in Spanish, Suzuki strings, lab science, and library.

“The Academy has long been a source of quality early childhood and preschool programming for the Harrisburg region,” said Jessica Warren, director of enrollment management. “Parents appreciate the opportunity for their child to explore in a safe, nurturing environment supported by small class sizes and enhanced student-teacher ratios. By providing families more flexibility in choosing their child’s class schedule, we are excited to share the Academy experience with even more students at this young age.”

The Academy is currently accepting applications for students of all ages, including HATS, for the 2017-18 academic year, and admission staff are available to meet throughout the summer months in advance of the start of school. More information about admission is available at www.HarrisburgAcademy.org.
